

ATTACHMENT AND ARTICLES USING SAME

ABSTRACT

5 There is disclosed an attachment suitable for attaching a first component of an article to a second component of the article. The attachment preferably includes a flange portion extending from the first component and a slot or slot tab or stop wall or locator post extending from the second component. The assembled components form an assembly 10 which reduces or restricts vibration or movement of the components in specific directions